Student Development and Enrollment Services in partnership with the Office of Student Conduct and the faculty of UCF has started an account with turnitin.com, an automated system that quickly and easily identifies plagiarism in student papers. Once a paper is submitted to turnitin.com, it is compared to billions of Internet sources (80% of the web) as well as an enormous database that grows with each submission. In approximately 24 hours, the site generates a report for the instructor that highlights passages in the paper that may have been plagiarized. The instructor can then compare the passages with the original sources, which are listed in the report and then determine if plagiarism indeed occurred. For more information, please visit www.turnitin.com, or stop by the Office of Student Conduct, or stop by the Office of Student Development and Enrollment Services in the SRC 154.
